They were also shown a picture of the proposed location. The task was to decide what order they would like the trail and where each piece could go that was appropriate. Sebastian thought that the trail should alternate between pieces of equipment that were hard and those that were easier. Rebecca stated that the pieces should alternate between strength, balance, co-ordination to give them variety. Harriot suggested that the piece in the middle of the trail should be one of the highest pieces as there would be no chance that people could jump up and climb into the trees (possibly the Climbing Net). Jack and Vinnie thought that an easier piece should be to start, like the Stepping Stones. Ryan thought a harder piece to end on should be the monkey bars. Ned was concerned that the trail would be where he likes to do his thinking and calming down - TM took him outside to re-assure him that the trail would not touch his thinking trees. |  |
